LONDON, UK – 8th May 2009. Invenio today announced that it has agreed a formal alliance with leading Hyperion partner Thought IT Limited. The partnership was formed to enable the respective companies to offer value-added services in customer accounts where both SAP and Hyperion serve as mission-critical financial and ERP applications.

Partho Bhattacharya, Invenio's Managing Director said "In the current climate it is essential that companies get timely and accurate business intelligence to ensure that they can successfully weather the present economic crisis. By combining Invenio's expertise in SAP with Thought IT's expertise in Hyperion's Performance Management software, we can offer a range of services to our customers to ensure that any Hyperion applications are tightly integrated and configured to give the best possible performance indicators during this difficult time."

Bob Fretton, Thought IT's Commercial Director added: "Oracle Hyperion has been a market-leader in performance management for many years, with thousands of companies relying on its reputation for delivering in-depth and accurate analysis across the finance and the extended enterprise. By joining forces with Invenio we can ensure that every aspect of an SAP user's enterprise is connected to deliver real-time performance information as and when it's needed".

About Invenio: Invenio offers best-in-class service offerings to SAP customers at a sensible price point – without compromising on quality. Our service portfolio includes global SAP support and maintenance, customisation and development, upgrades and implementations, training, industry solutions and product enhancements. Formed in 2006 the company operates from locations in London and Reading, UK and Mumbai and New Delhi, India. The company's ethos of providing the best SAP talent within a fixed-cost, fixed-scope contract, has helped us to acquire a reputation within the industry for service excellence, and has led to a number of blue-chip companies retaining our services for all their SAP requirements.
