LONDON, UK – 26 May 2010. Sapphire and Invenio have today announced a partnership agreement to offer extended time zone services and support for customers using the SAP Small and Mid-Market family of applications. Sapphire is SAP's largest reseller of SAP Business One in the EMEA+India territory, and enjoys a growing presence in the USA market. Headquartered in the UK, Invenio have operations in India and the Asia-Pac region, from which they provide a range of industry solutions based upon SAP Business All-in-One, together with support and services to some of the world's largest SAP customers.

With businesses formulating plans to seek new revenue opportunities overseas, comes a need to access both application and technical support across extended time zones in order to support a successful global operation. Ralph Bolton, Technical Director for Sapphire said: 'By joining forces with Invenio, Sapphire have acquired and trained a team that enables us support our 650 strong client base across extended time zones. We chose India for its availability of highly educated and capable technical personnel who offer excellent English language skills. Sapphire is a strong proponent of the partnership model and we engaged with Invenio due to their complementary business activities in both the European and Pan-Asian SAP marketplace.

The partnership sees Invenio and Sapphire operating from joint facilities based in Mumbai, a city where the technical and commercial infrastructure can support a growing demand for globalised services. This joint collaboration enables both Invenio and Sapphire to pool resources, share in regional and market intelligence and provide complementary solutions expertise. Plans are underway to build upon this investment to strengthen and add value to Sapphire's range of support programmes.

Sanjay Hiranandani, CEO of Invenio concludes: 'We are delighted to support Sapphire in this new venture. Invenio have a reputation for strong SAP expertise and international delivery capabilities – which gives us an innate understanding of the needs of customers in a global trading environment. Because Invenio and Sapphire share the same core values in terms of delivering best-in-class services, this partnership will deliver
