LONDON, UK –17 July 2009. Leading SAP practice Invenio Business Solutions today announced a new service to help SAP customers prepare the required information for the new Carbon Reduction Commitment scheme (CRC).

The scheme is being introduced next year and will affect the top 5,000 private and public organisations in the UK. However, these organisations are faced with an immediate and mandatory obligation to provide evidence of their electricity consumption in 2008 in order to assist the Environment Agency in calculating how much UK businesses will be asked to reduce their carbon emissions from 2010 onwards.

Partho Bhattacharya, Invenio's Managing Director said "We have prepared our consulting team in readiness to help SAP customers to prepare for CRC. The team are now ready to help SAP users to design and produce a report that will compile the information needed to meet disclosure obligations for the qualifying year". He continues "one of the key aims of the scheme is to provide a series of financial and reputational incentives to encourage the development of proactive energy management strategies, and Invenio can help augment customers' SAP systems to actively monitor energy use in different parts of the business and reduce the carbon footprint based on internal targets".

Laura Coles, Marketing Director at Invenio concluded "Green IT is very much part of the agenda in UK businesses today. The CRC will be a huge step forward in generating energy efficiency awareness at Board level - and will help drive changes in corporate behaviour across the company. The organisations that stand to benefit from the CRC are those that embrace this opportunity to improve their understanding of both energy consumption and opportunities for energy efficiency and we look forward to enabling those businesses to make the most of their SAP systems in enabling this change".
