LONDON, UK – 4th June 2009. Invenio today announced that it has launched a new fixed price implementation and training service that enables SAP customers to implement and configure the SAP Solution Manager.

SAP Solution Manager is a free software tool that helps SAP customers better manage and support complex SAP landscapes. Invenio's service offers end-to-end implementation, configuration, testing and training so that customers are assured of a robust, fully supportable SAP Solution Manager installation.

Partho Bhattacharya, Invenio's Managing Director said "Although most SAP customers are fully aware of the benefits that SAP Solution Manager brings, it's often concerns about project costs, combined with difficulties in hiring the right consultant with the right experience that prove to be a barrier to implementation. Invenio's service is a neat solution to this as our costs give incredibly good value for money and, with a short time to implementation, the return on investment is apparent within just days of go-live".

Invenio's fixed price service is calculated based upon the customer's SAP landscape and takes into account the number of users, modules and system administrator training requirements. Partho adds "In the current climate it is important that IT departments can budget accurately for value added SAP services and, once the implementation price has been calculated and agreed with the customer, we guarantee to deliver the implementation to that agreed price and specification. A typical implementation project last between 5 and 7 days and will cost under £5,000.00 – bringing this well within reach of even the most budget-conscious organisations."
