LONDON, UK – 1st May 2009. Invenio today announced that it has launched a new service that enables SAP customers to cut costs and improve their business performance during this current economic crisis.

Partho Bhattacharya, Invenio's Managing Director said "As unwelcome as the current recession may be, businesses that take the initiative to run a tighter ship in terms of basic management disciplines can use this downturn as an opportunity for long term success."

The new service offers SAP customers a range of clear, structured measures to will enable them to evaluate the success and efficacy of their SAP system within the context of today's economic climate.

Partho adds, "The real unique aspect to this service is that we promise to offer a series recommendations that will save at least 30% on the client's annual support and maintenance costs – without compromising on the quality, speed or efficiency of their SAP operations. If it were to transpire that we were unable to do this, then our service is free."
